

Increased Business Refutes S. P. Claims

FACTS SHOW RAILROAD TO BE MAKING MONEY ON "SO-CALLED" LOW FREIGHT RATES

That there is urgent demand for harbor development on either side of the San Francisco bay and that the Southern Pacific is finding it profitable to establish a series of slips at the south mole on the east side of the bay, are vital facts that must be considered in connection with the battle now being waged by the San Francisco communities for lower freight rates.

Proposed improvements on the east side of the bay refute the S. P. arguments that its freight rate is "too low."

The principal proposition is that present business is profitable and that this showing warrants improvements and extensions of what is known as "free switching limits."

The following report and letter bear out the point that the growing business must be taken care of at equitable freight rates:

The biennial report of the Board of State Harbor Commissioners, for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1916, shows that San Francisco water front had 12.7 miles of wharfage.

"The piers and bulkhead wharves offer about 12.7 miles of berthing space at the present time, and the system can be expanded, AS THE POPULATION AND COMMERCE DEMAND, until it will cover quite fifty miles.

"Plans are being perfected for five entirely new piers, as follows:

"Pier No. 1—Next north of the Ferry building, 500 feet long and 150 feet wide.

"Pier No. 3—Next north thereof, 706 feet long and 138 feet wide.

"Pier No. 31—At the foot of Francisco street, 800 feet long and 150 feet wide.

"Pier No. 33—At the foot of Bay street, 800 feet long and 150 feet wide.

"Pier No. 46—Near the foot of Berry street, 800 feet long and 200 feet wide.

"Of these, Nos. 1 and 3 will take the place of existing piers 3 and 5, old and dilapidated beyond repairs, and which will be entirely demolished; Nos. 31 and 33 will occupy new territory and No. 46 will replace the pier of the same number, which was entirely destroyed by fire on the night of June 4, 1916, from causes unknown.

"WHEN THIS LINE IS COMPLETED ALL AVAILABLE SPACE FOR PIER BUILDING NORTH OF THE CHANNEL WILL HAVE BEEN OCCUPIED.

"FURTHER DEVELOPMENT MUST THEN GO SOUTH OF CHANNEL STREET TO THE FRONT OF CHINA BASIN AND THE ISLAIS CREEK AND INDIA BASIN LANDS AND THE WATER FRONT LINE BETWEEN."

The above report shows that over this 12.7 miles of wharfage there was handled approximately 8,700,000 tons of freight.

Now, during 1913 over the 72.5 miles of wharfage around Manhattan Island, New York, there was handled 58,000,000 tons of freight, and this tonnage so congested the wharves that it was constantly impossible to grant the applications of steamers for docking space.

Following is a quotation from the Merchants' Association of New York City (Official Bulletin 2-9-14):

"The commerce of the port has far outgrown its facilities. The city is constantly compelled to deny application for dock facilities, thus driving commerce to other ports."

The following is quoted from the annual report of the Philadelphia Department of Wharves, Docks and Ferries:

"Owing to the fact that the shipping facilities of New York harbor have not kept pace with the country's growing commerce, much of the trade formerly going to that port as a matter of habit and a matter of course will be seeking other outlets wherever offered."

The State Engineer of New York, in warning New York City of its dangers in 1897, said:

"Commerce has no hard and fast abiding place. It is as mobile as the water that floats it. This is a fact never to be lost sight of."

Now, let us compare the tonnage handled over the wharves of Manhattan in 1913 with that handled over the wharves of San Francisco during the fiscal year 1916:

	No. of Miles of Wharfage	No. of Tons Handled	Average Tons per Mile of Wharfage
Manhattan, 1913	72.5	58,000,000	800,000
San Francisco, 1916	12.7	8,700,000	700,000

Note how Manhattan wharves were congested and that the average tonnage per mile of wharfage over the San Francisco wharves was but 1/7 or 14.3 per cent less than handled over the wharves of Manhattan.

There is under contemplation the construction of a canal and adequate facilities in the way of docks and warehouses at South San Francisco to ac-

RAISE FLAG ON POLE OF STEEL HERE

CELEBRATION ATTENDS HOISTING OF BANNER

A committee of the Panama-Pacific Local No. 5 met a few days ago in Manager Becker's office at the Pacific Coast Steel Company, and suggested to him that they would like to purchase a flag to fly at the Pacific Coast Steel Company's plant.

Mr. Becker immediately, with his patriotic feeling, said: "Boys, buy your flag and I will see that it flies from the best flagpole that can be erected with our materials, and we will celebrate the raising of your flag next Sunday, June 3d." Time nor money were not spared, and one of the most unique and substantial poles was erected as the outcome of Mr. Becker's perseverance.

This flagpole stands to-day as the envy of several counties, which, after having seen it, want to know how much a duplicate will cost, with the idea of purchasing one. The flagpole stands 87 feet in height, erected out of angles manufactured at the works. The base is about five feet square and tapers off to the top, where a large golden ball rests that contains electric lights.

The pole is painted with the national colors, and at night is illuminated with colored lights on the pole, also an electric searchlight plays on the flag, so it can be seen for miles down the Peninsula. The local union certainly did its part well. It formed for parade last Sunday morning, 700 strong, at the corner of Linden and Grand avenues, and just at 10 o'clock, the appointed hour, moved off with the precision and cadence of veterans.

The parade was headed by Uncle Sam (H. P. Dunbaugh) and two Goddesses of Liberty, little Misses Virginia Carlson and Beatrice Farrell. Next came the South San Francisco Union Band, under the direction of Professor Cappelli. The band was followed by A. Sharkey, carrying the Stars and Stripes, and by Ralph Saldreich, carrying the banner of the A. A. of I. S. and T. W. of N. A. Next in order marched a squad of soldiers who preceded the officers of the local union of the steel works.

The lodge members marched next, followed by various other employees of the company. The Eagles' Drum Corps of Colma preceded the Bears' baseball team of South San Francisco, led by Manager Tom Schmidt. The team were in their new uniforms, donated by Mr. Becker. About fifty automobiles filled with employees and their families and patriotic citizens followed to witness the ceremonies at the plant.

Ed Farrell was the marshal of the

MAIL DELIVERY SOON TO BE ESTABLISHED AT SOUTH CITY

POSTAL INSPECTOR MADERO TELLS CITY TRUSTEE CUNNINGHAM OF NEW PLAN.

Superintendent of Mails St. Amant, with Inspector Madera and two post-office officials at San Francisco, motored to South San Francisco Thursday in connection with establishing free mail delivery.

A conference was held with City Engineer and Superintendent of Streets George A. Kneese on the question of street numbers.

Under the plan South San Francisco becomes an "independent station" of San Francisco, and all mail comes addressed as heretofore.

South San Francisco is shortly to possess a mail delivery system.

Postal Inspector W. A. Madera informed City Trustee F. A. Cunningham to this effect when he visited this community several days ago on an official tour of inspection.

Realizing the growing importance of South San Francisco, the postoffice department believes that this city is entitled to class A service.

But before South San Francisco can have a delivery system the buildings must have street numbers and there must be more electric lights.

Madera declares that our streets are perfect and that our lighting system is good. It should be a simple matter to conform with the federal regulations.

At the meeting of the City Trustees Monday, it was proposed that an ordinance be introduced at the next meeting relative to street numbers—a matter that had been taken up by the Chamber of Commerce.

YOUNG DENNISON WEDS ALAMEDA BELLE AT REDWOOD

MANAGER OF STEIGER TERRA COTTA COMPANY BECOMES BENEDICT.

Lee R. Dennison, manager of the Steiger terra cotta works at South San Francisco, of which his father is president, and Miss Alice M. Fink of Alameda were married quietly Wednesday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy H. Curran in Redwood City. The Rev. C. H. Stevens of the Congregational church performed the ceremony.

Dennison and Miss Fink motored down to Redwood late Wednesday evening and persuaded County Clerk Nash to accompany them to the courthouse and issue a marriage license. Dennison gave his age as 32 and his residence at South San Francisco. The bride is 21.

After securing the license, they went to the home of Curran, an old school friend of Dennison, and the Rev. Mr. Stevens was called in to tie the knot.

The Steiger terra cotta plant at South San Francisco was totally destroyed by fire a few months ago, involving a loss of $200,000.

REGISTRATION OF CITY LEADS THIS COUNTY

SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO FURNISHES 680 NAMES

Patriotically and quietly South San Francisco did itself proud by registering 680 persons for draft last Tuesday. The showing is the best made by any municipality in San Mateo county, which total registration was 3731.

San Mateo, the county's largest city, furnished but 624 names.

South San Francisco's figures show that about 20 per cent of its population registered. The general rule throughout the country is that about 10 per cent of the population registers.

Patriotic citizens volunteered to aid in the work of registration, which proved more difficult here than in other communities because of the vast number of foreigners, who do not talk the English language.

There was practically no disorder throughout the county, though a slight disturbance, which did not prove to be serious, was caused by a Polish Russian who spoke the German language.

The individual in question was under the influence of liquor, it is stated, and believed that he was being forced to enlist. He was turned over to the police authorities, and when the true situation was explained to him by Harry Kneese in German, he readily consented to be registered.

Fred A. Cunningham, W. J. Smith, the Rev. Leslie C. Kelley, Harry P. Dunbaugh, J. W. Coleberd, Dr. J. C. McGovern, Daniel McSweeney and George Kneese did excellent work as volunteer registration clerks.

Cunningham's report to County Clerk Jos. H. Nash shows that out of the 680 registered here, 2 are officers, 2 disabled, 243 have dependents, 39 probable exemptions, 393 did not claim exemptions, 400 aliens and 4 negroes.

Following are the registration figures from other San Mateo county communities:

Daly City	232
San Bruno	118
Burlingame	180
Hillsborough	58
San Mateo	624
Belmont	86
Redwood City	363
Woodside	33
San Pedro	75

If You Parade, Here's an Idea For You

THROUGHOUT the country feminine marchers who fill the ranks of patriotic parades will wear hats something like this one. The top of the crown is of starry blue field, the brim of red and white stripes, while the banding is bias white pique set off with wide blue velvet ribbon crossing in front.

Teegowns are numerous and beautiful. Many are composed of two contrasting colors, and most of them are enhanced by heavy oriental girdles of beads or metal or a combination of both of these with heavy silk cord or ribbon.

Pique is used to trim many garments as well as to fashion that smart accessory, the vest. This is most frequently made of the spotted or figured pique. Linen, too, in colors is employed to trim suits. Collars and cuffs, too, are made in colored linen.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

A FISHERMAN
BY THE SEA

[Adapted from Grimm's Fairy Tales.]

WHEN Jack and Evelyn ran to meet daddy he promised them a bedtime story. Here it is: "There was once a fisherman who lived with his wife in a shanty close by the sea.

"All day long he went a-fishing. And one day as he sat on the shore with his rod in his hand, looking at the sparkling waves and watching his line, all of a sudden his float was dragged away deep into the water. He pulled like anything and landed a big fish.

"The fish immediately shouted: 'Pray, let me live! I am not a real fish! I am an enchanted prince! Put me back into the water and let me go!'

"Oh, ho!" said the fisherman. "You need not make so many words about it. I will have nothing to do with a talking fish. So swim away, sir, as fast as you please."

"Then the fisherman threw his catch back into the sea. The fish darted straight to the bottom, leaving behind him a red streak on the waves, for the hook had caught him under one gill.

"That night when the fisherman went home to his wife he told her how he had caught a great fish, how it had said it was an enchanted prince and how he had put it back in the sea.

"Didn't you ask it for anything?" cried his wife.

"No," said the fisherman. "Why should I ask it for anything?"

"Fool!" cried his wife. "Here we live in this miserable shanty, dirty as a pigsty. I am sick of the nasty place. Go back and tell that fish we want a snug little cottage."

"The fisherman did not much like this job. However, he went back to the seashore. And when he got there the water looked all yellow and green. So he stood at the water's edge and called:

"O man of the sea, hearken to me!

My wife Isabell will have her own will

And hath sent me to beg a boon of thee!"

"Then out of the strange yellow and green waves the fish came swimming to him, saying: 'Well, what is your wife's will? What is it she wants?'

"Ah," said the fisherman, 'she says that when I caught you on my hook I ought to have demanded something of you before I let you go. She does not want to live any longer in a pigsty and wants a neat little cottage.'"

"Did she get it?" cried the children. And daddy kissed them good night.

"His Brother's Wife" at Royal Theatre, Tuesday, June 12th

William A. Brady, in association with the World Film Corporation, presents Ethel Clayton and Carlyle Blackwell in "His Brother's Wife" at the Royal Theatre next Tuesday evening, June 12th.

If you had been a prosperous manufacturer, blessed with a beautiful and devoted wife and many friends; if one day you had come to business with a tired and irritable mind, quarreled with an employee who, knowing that the premiums on your fire insurance had not been paid, revenges himself by setting fire to your factory, resulting in a total loss; if your health broke under the awful strain and you found yourself forsaken by all but your devoted and loving wife whose every action showed her readiness to sacrifice everything to save you, you would worship her, wouldn't you?

But suppose the hand of Fate decreed you should suffer the extreme pangs of poverty and, lacking proper nourishment, you should become a victim of tuberculosis; finally the doctor advised prompt removal to the mountains, which your lack of funds forbid, and while you faced death, and to raise the necessary money for your expenses to the hills, your wife had stolen out in the night and secured aid from an infatuated stranger, whom time reveals as your long-lost brother, back from Australia with a fortune, and whose affection and generosity lead you to suspect and finally believe in your wife's infidelity, what would you do?

Go with Howard Barton among the shadows, and see if your wife will follow, and after the first climax go through the many thrilling episodes to the end. Then decide.

"His Brother's Wife" is a big, beautiful story, with a thrill in every scene and a happy ending that brings you back to the sunshine.

Liberty Loan

America is Calling for Financial Volunteers

THAT AMERICA may strike the winning blows for the freedom and democracy of the world, your Government calls today for financial volunteers.

You who wish to see the war ended quickly—you who desire the prosperity and safety of American business—to you Uncle Sam offers today the opportunity to make the best financial and patriotic investment of your life.

To you the Secretary of the Treasury says: "The greatest immediate service the American people can render in this War for universal liberty throughout the world is to furnish the means for its vigorous prosecution. This bond issue is the first step. I earnestly bespeak the co-operation of every citizen throughout the length and breadth of the land in this great service of patriotism."

You Do Not Spend; You Save

In asking you to subscribe to the Liberty Loan your Government is not asking you to spend your money. Instead, it holds out to you a splendid opportunity to save and invest.

When you invest in a Liberty Bond you get a signed promise backed by the total resources of the richest nation in the world—a wealth of 250 billion dollars.

How the Financial Volunteer Aids His Country

The Liberty Loan is to be used by our Government to purchase our products and materials for ourselves or our allies. Not a dollar of this loan will leave this country or pay for other than American products. The financial volunteer enables his country to market more American goods.

The Liberty Loan is going to quicken the pulse of American business. It will broaden the market for American goods. Every railroad, every mill and every factory, every mine, every farm, will be pushed to its utmost to meet the increased activity caused by the Government coming into the market as a buyer on the largest scale in history.

3½ Per Cent Net Income

Liberty Bonds bear 3½ per cent interest, payable semi-annually December 15th and June 15th. Our Government has made these bonds exempt from all taxes, except inheritance and estate taxes, so that they yield an absolutely net income of 3½ per cent.

If before the end of the war, Government bonds bearing higher interest should be issued, you can exchange your Liberty Bonds for them.

Bonds As Small As $50

These bonds have been purposely made in multiples of $50 so that every one might have this opportunity to become a Government Bond Holder. Liberty Loan Bonds mature in 30 years and are redeemable in 15 years. Bonds in multiples of $100 may be registered, so that the income comes to you automatically.

The Ideal Investment

Liberty Bonds combine the three requirements of an ideal investment to the greatest degree known—Safety, Saleability and Return.

Safety—The wealth of the United States is estimated at 250 billion dollars, over 80 times our total National debt (including this issue of Liberty Bonds). The annual income of the United States is estimated at about 400 times the annual interest charges on our total debt.

Saleability—United States Government bonds have always had a broad and ready market. No other bonds enjoy so immediate a market if you care to sell. Any bank will loan money on these bonds.

Return—The interest rate starts at 3½ per cent per year ($3.50 on a $100 bond). Considering the safety and saleability of these bonds, the net return of 3½ per cent free of all taxes, except estate and inheritance taxes, is certainly an ample return.

You can buy these bonds on the installment plan.

Announcement has been made that all the saloon keepers of Redwood City have raised the price of beer from 5 to 10 cents a glass. The change took effect on Saturday, and was caused by the increased cost of beer wholesale.

Free Mail Delivery Here

The word has gone out, from an apparently authentic source, that the postoffice of this city of South San Francisco will be consolidated with and become a part of the big San Francisco postoffice, and that, in the near future, this city will become a branch or substation of the San Francisco postoffice. Consolidation means free delivery of mail, which will be a benefit.

Our streets are well paved, and the only thing needed to entitle us to free delivery of mail is the installation of a complete house numbering system, together with a few additional street lights.

Now that all postoffices in the United States have been put under civil service rule, the consolidation of the small offices with a large central office follows naturally.

As a branch of San Francisco's postal system and service the government of the United States will extend its free mail delivery limits to include this city.

As a branch of San Francisco's industrial system the Southern Pacific Company should beat the government to it, by immediately extending its San Francisco free switching limits to include South San Francisco.

Dumbarton Bridge Project

The Dumbarton bridge enterprise is alive, but just at present is in temporary retirement. The committee appointed to find, or provide, ways and means to secure the construction of the bridge, has succeeded in finding a practicable and workable plan through which the big bridge can be built.

The active prosecution of work is in abeyance, owing to the all-absorbing war issues and the present scarcity of structural steel.

South San Francisco Leads

Uncle Sam has called the roll, and ten million young men have answered "here" as their names were called.

There have been no riots and no opposition worth naming to conscription for the war. The people are standing solidly behind their government. In San Mateo county the banner belongs to South San Francisco.

Out of San Mateo county's 3731 young men registered as between 21 and 30 years, this city contributes 680. San Mateo comes next with 624.

Should we count these 680 young men as 10 per cent of our population it would give us a total of 6800. We estimate our actual population as 4000, of which number 2000 are on our industrial pay roll. It is this city's big weekly pay roll that accounts for our high percentage of young men.

INCREASED BUSINESS REFUTES S. P. CLAIMS.

commodate ocean-going steamers. These three important factors must be considered:

The navigation of the lower bay, and the feasibility of constructing and maintaining a canal with the necessary turning basin at the depth of water required.

The possibility of sufficient business to produce a return on the money necessary to expend for such improvements.

The extension of "SAN FRANCISCO'S FREE SWITCHING DISTRICT" to include South San Francisco and thus make accessible the entire business of San Francisco—thus adding to determine the second factor.

A survey to determine the first factor is now being made and any information or suggestions as to navigation of this part of the bay would be appreciated. We are attaching a tracing showing the location, etc.

The determination of the second factor seems entirely to depend on the third factor (the extension of the San Francisco free switching district to include South San Francisco).

We have made an investigation to determine the possibility of accomplishing the extension of the San Francisco free switching district to include South San Francisco, and our investigation convinces us that it is entirely possible to bring this about. The matter is now under consideration by the railroads, and as extending San Francisco's free switching district to include South San Francisco would only be granting to the San Francisco side of the bay privileges that the Oakland side of the bay has enjoyed for years, we believe they will treat San Francisco fairly. We have the support of various civic bodies of San Francisco to solve this factor. We are enclosing a blueprint and explanation, showing the actual switching limits on each side of the bay and the proposed extension of the San Francisco switching limits to include South San Francisco, to place San Francisco and its immediate territory on a parity with Oakland and its immediate territory.

We would, therefore, like to inquire what—in your opinion—are the prospects of shipping seeking accommodation at South San Francisco if (1) navigation is safe to that point; (2) adequate facilities are provided and (3) the San Francisco switching limits are extended to include South San Francisco, thus making the transportation charge, between docks and warehouses located on the Southern Pacific Company tracks in San Francisco proper, the same as the charge from any of the docks and warehouses on the San Francisco proper water front to the same industries.

There has been much comment and inquiry as to the reasons for Seattle's making such rapid gains over San Francisco in export business during 1916, and our investigation leads us to believe that—especially during the first half of the year—this was largely due to the congestion of freight on account of lack of railroad facilities at San Francisco and also of docking space for steamers. At Seattle accommodations had been provided and, naturally, the business followed the route offering the quickest dispatch—the route over which delivery of goods to buyers could be accomplished without the necesday, assisted by C. W. Baker, A. S. Delp and E. A. Travioli. Moving pictures were taken of the entire procession and flag raising, and this picture will be shown here in a few days, also other reels showing the entire process of manufacturing steel at the local plant.

Steve Nyland presented the flag to the company. He said in part:

It is with a great deal of pleasure that I greet you to-day. In fact, I deeply appreciate the honor conferred upon me by asking me to act as chairman.

Never before in the memory of any of us has there been such a patriotic feeling as there is to-day. Never before have we looked upon our country with such pride and admiration. The United States of America is watched by the entire world. No other emblem can mean so much to us as the stars and stripes. It is fitting at this time that we unfurl Old Glory. (Applause.)

Mr. Becker, the employees of the Pacific Coast Steel Company desire to present to the company a flag—our flag. We want it displayed at all times, so that men may know that we are loyal Americans. May there never be one man pass under its folds who does not do so with all reverence. (Applause.)

Amid cheering and applause Mr. N. A. Becker stepped on the platform and accepted the flag for the company, saying:

Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen: Representing the Pacific Coast Steel Company, it is their desire as well as mine to express our gratification to know that you are one and all in accord in this movement of patriotism and loyalty that is being manifested throughout this glorious nation, the United States of America. (Applause.) In no more fitting manner could you have demonstrated your sincere love and loyalty to the land of the free and the home of the brave than by your presentation of this token of liberty, freedom and equality, your flag and mine. (Applause.)

I am sure there is not one among you who, looking upon this flag, does not do so with a feeling of love and reverence—the flag that our forefathers fought for, bled for and died for—and if the time comes, and it seems to be near at hand, that you are needed and I am needed to make the one great sacrifice that she may live, and that your children and my children may continue to enjoy the privileges of freedom and happiness that has been ours since the signing of the Declaration of Independence, we will with one accord cast our all at the altar of freedom. (Applause.)

The Pacific Coast Steel Company is manufacturing large quantities of shrapnel, riveted rods, bolts and material for submarines and destroyers. This material is being inspected by the United States government, and in manufacturing it as rapidly as possible it becomes the duty of each and every man working for the Pacific Coast Steel Company to do his part, and it is just as important for the man behind the tongs not to be a slacker as it is for the young man who is wanted on the firing line.

In modern warfare the steel workers take a very active part; without steel workers there can be no arms or munitions. Success can only be accomplished by each and every individual working enthusiastically every minute and hour of the day, so that the boys at the front and behind the guns will have the necessary equipment to defeat the enemy.

America's man-power would be useless without the supporting forces of steel workers. The Pacific Coast Steel Company is ready at all times to sacrifice all interest in behalf of the government. With the able assistance and co-operation of the steel workers, this plant will be of great assistance to the government by the manufacture and construction of steel for boats and various munitions of war.

I see standing before me to-day a large number of women, no doubt the sweethearts, wives, sisters and mothers of the steel workers, who stand behind the men with the tongs, and in return are standing behind the men at the guns. With this wonderful combination behind Old Glory there is no power on earth able to destroy what it stands for: Liberty, Equality and Freedom of our Flag.

During the dark days which are inevitable, keep your eyes turned toward Old Glory and your thoughts upon the indisputable rights that it signifies, and all work for her and fight for her.

Mr. Becker requested that all join in singing "America" and the "Star-Spangled Banner," led by Mrs. Cappelli, while the flag was being raised. With all heads bare and the soldiers standing at attention, the band playing and all singing, Old Glory was unfurled.

The local union and Mr. Becker take this opportunity to thank Mr. Cappelli, his band, Mrs. Cappelli, the Eagles' Drum Corps and all who participated in the successful flag raising.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

(Charles A. Sands.)
In the result of an election held yesterday at the local school the strategy employed by the sophomores predominated. By a series of complicated maneuvers the boys' political organization so brought it about that all the offices of the student body are occupied by them. In sharp contrast to the boys' political organization stands the fact that the girls do not stick together in supporting their candidate. On several occasions the girls' vote was split by themselves. The boys before the election had specifically decided on the candidates, and it was evident by the returns of the election that their plan was successfully carried out. The following were the officers elected:
Angelo Scampini, president; Joe Mahoney, vice-president; Thomas Becker, secretary; Joshua Maule, treasurer; James Smith, athletic manager; David Farrell, representative to P. A. L.; reporter, Charles Sands.

The future administration has pledged itself to follow the successful policy laid down by its predecessors.

The high school annual was received hot from the press Friday and was heartily welcomed by the students. The cost of printing has been met by the advertisements inserted by local as well as San Francisco business men. We can truthfully say that any person who buys this annual at the small sum of 50 cents will be completely satisfied. The work done by the students and faculty was greatly appreciated by the entire school.

The program for senior week, which will commemorate the graduating of three of the most popular young ladies of our school, Miss Helen Carmody, Miss Florence Brawn and Miss Emma Johnson, has been definitely decided upon. It will consist of class day, the graduation exercises and a social invitational ball, to be held Friday evening, June 15th.

A masquerade party was held Thursday evening at the home of Miss R. R. Clifford. It was concluded by the girls, to whom the party was given, that they had spent a very enjoyable evening.

BASEBALL

Last Sunday the Bears traveled to Fruitvale and played the fast El Siglo Club. Owing to the fact that the Bears were much smaller than their opponents, they were beaten by the score of 8 to 2.

Ray Campbell, former Trolley League pitcher, opposed the Bears and allowed but five hits, one being a home-run drive by Costiglio.

There will be no game to-morrow, owing to Fuller's train ride, but next Sunday the Bears will play a double-header. In the morning the Bears will play the married men at the corporation field at San Mateo.

The following was last Sunday's line-up:

The South City Vampires were defeated by the Winfield Federals by the score of 5 to 2.

The Vampires played against odds. They booked with Spalding for a 14-15-year-old team, but Spalding made a mistake and sent out a 16-17-year-old team.

The batteries for the local boys were Wallace, catching, and Mercks and Welte, pitching.

The game was exciting throughout the whole nine innings.

The score:

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS

Personal property .....$3042.04
Anne Bell Bailey, Librarian.

I hereby submit my report of expenditures of the San Mateo county free library for the month of May, 1917:

Total expenditures .....$280.45
Newton Peck, county horticultural commissioner, reported that he had inspected 3322 trees, plants and shrubs, also three cars of potatoes, all of which were passed as clean with the exception of 100 plants that were infested with "mealy bug." The latter were disinfected.

Peck was excused from attending the state horticulturists' meeting, which is to be held at Merced, on motion of Supervisor Brown, seconded by Supervisor Francis.

Miss Anne Bell Bailey, county librarian, appeared before the board and asked that the limit for the salary of an assistant in her office be raised from $25 a month to $40 a month. Miss Bailey explained that she had an apprentice at the present time working who is able to take charge of her work while she is away visiting the different branch libraries in the county.

On motion of Supervisor Hickey, seconded by Supervisor Brown, it was ordered that a committee of three be appointed to investigate the matter. Chairman Thompson thereupon appointed Supervisors Hickey, Brown and MacBain to act upon said committee.

The following persons having complied with the county ordinance and furnished the required bond, were granted liquor licenses:

SUPERVISORS ASSIST COUNTY TASK OF REGISTRATION

The Board of Supervisors Monday morning decided to request all saloons in San Mateo county to close Tuesday from 7 a. m. to 9 p. m., on account of the draft registration. The action was taken at the request of the San Mateo County Council of Defense. Supervisor John MacBain made the motion, it was seconded by Supervisor Brown and carried unanimously. The saloon men of San Mateo and Redwood City had already announced their intention of remaining closed all day.

Word came from Palo Alto that a large number of anti-registration circulars were distributed there Saturday night. Chief of Police Noble and his men have been trying to learn the identity of the persons responsible for the circulars, and if they are found they will be severely dealt with by the government.
